Cedric Leonardi and Mario Reyes of the Gipsy Kings will play an evening of rumba at Vibrato!

Alfredo Caceres, guitar/mandola; Andrew Gouche, bass; Salar Nader, tabla; and Alam Khan, sarod, will join Ced on drums and Mario on guitar/vocals, along with one of Flamenco's foremost modern stars, Patricia Peinado Cruz, who will weave her flamenco magic into the music. The group will return to the Vibrato stage for another performance in December.

Ced and Mario will return to India in 2013 as part of a Gypsy Allstars project, which explores the origins of gypsy culture in Rajasthan, India. They are in Los Angeles preparing new material and re-imagining existing music before traveling to India next year.

The Gipsy Kings emerged out of the South of France in the early 80s when the Reyes and Baliardos families set the world on fire with their infectious and sensual rhythms — sounds that were original and breathtaking. Songs like “Djobi Djoba” and “Bamboleo” are forever etched on our minds as quintessential feel good music. The Gypsy Kings have sold over 40 millions records worldwide since they first started under the band name Los Reyes in 1982.
